

<firstname>,

We take privacy seriously at Quantum5, and today we're rolling out updates to our privacy policy.

Bottom line: Everyone has the right to keep their data private and secure. We've built Quantum5 with security and privacy by design, not as an afterthought. We've architected our system and designed our policies to protect your data, keep it private, and help you benefit from whatever you share with us—no matter what you're here to accomplish.

Quantum5's privacy policy and business operations honor the following commitments:

- We don't sell your data to advertisers or other third parties.
- We de-identify data as often as possible, maintaining aggregated, anonymous analytics for the purposes of reporting.
- We do not acquire more data than is needed for legitimate business purposes and we do not retain any data for longer than is necessary (for more, see Data Retention).

To find out more visit Quantum5.ai/privacy